SHELTER

NEW SOUTH WALES

Shelter NSW is a non-government, non-profit, social change agency committed to working for a fair and just housing system.

What we do

We work to ensure that low-income and disadvantaged people in New South Wales have access to housing that is affordable, safe, secure and appropriate to their needs. Our work falls into two broad areas: advocacy and education.

In our advocacy work, we use a number of strategies:

- conducting research
- writing submissions to government and non-government inquiries
- developing policy
- participating in governmental committees
- lobbying
- coordinating community-based responses
- liaising with the media, politicians, government agencies and other community organisations.

Our educational work focuses on building the capacity of non-government organisations, and increasing the capacity of consumers to develop an informed voice. We do this by:

- presenting community education courses
- hosting conferences
- giving presentations and talks at seminars and meetings

- publishing informational resources on key housing issues — including our quarterly newsletter, Around the House, a series of occasional papers (Shelter Briefs), Shelter NSW eBulletins, factsheets on NSW and Australian housing statistics, and other resources available from our website.

Our interests

We have a strong focus on the affordability of housing for low- to moderate-income households, whether private rental (including residential parks and boarding houses), social housing or homeownership. However we are not just concerned about ‘bricks and mortar’ — we support the strengthening of communities based on people’s needs coming first. We don’t view solutions to housing problems as lying solely with government agencies, but also with the private and not-for-profit sectors. And we see opportunities for better housing outcomes coming from changes to the taxation, welfare and environmental planning systems.

Join us

Become a member of Shelter NSW! Benefits of membership include:

- keep up-to-date about critical housing issues for people on low to moderate incomes: receive print copies of our quarterly newsletter, Around the House, and hear about our reports, submissions and other resources, and our events

- keep informed about and participate in our campaigns: we rely on the support of a wide cross-section of individuals and community groups who are active in housing issues to achieve results
- receive discounted prices on Shelter NSW events
- participate in the governance of the association.

We recommend that community organisations, individuals and private sector firms become members, and that government agencies and libraries subscribe to our publications. Please note that if you become a member, you don’t need to subscribe to our newsletter — it comes with your membership.
